Washington's Plague Spots.

Lie in the low, marshy bottoms of the Potomac, the breeding ground of malaria germs. These germs cause chills, fever and ague, biliousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility and bring suffering and death to thousands yearly. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "They are the best all-round tonic and cure for malaria I ever used," writes R. M. James of Louisville, S. C. They cure stomach, liver, kidney and blood troubles and will prevent typhoid. Try them, 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

If you read it in The Optic it's so.

Whereas, Scarlet fever has existed in the town and city of Las Vegas for over a year past, resulting in the loss of life; and,

Whereas, Several cases of such disease have developed in the public schools of our city during the past year; and,

Whereas, Said disease is still in existence in this community; therefore be it,

Resolved, That this board is in favor of adopting such means as may be necessary for the complete eradication of such disease. That the city physician be instructed by the proper authorities of the city of Las Vegas to make a complete inspection of the entire city of Las Vegas to ascertain the true condition with reference to said disease.

That the public schools of the city be not opened until the city physician shall certify to this board that the said disease has been thoroughly eradicated, or is under control without any danger of further spread resulting therefrom.

That no pupils within the city, coming from any home where said disease has existed, can enter said schools until the said city physician shall give a certificate that the said home has been thoroughly fumigated and disinfected, and the said pupil cannot spread the said disease to others. That no pupil from the outside of said city limit shall be permitted to enter said city schools coming from any home where said disease has existed, and such pupils from without the city limit as have heretofore attended said schools shall present to the school authorities a similar certificate as above provided.

That in case the present ordinances in regard to epidemic diseases of the city of Las Vegas are not effective to carry out the sense of this resolution, that the city council be requested to pass such ordinances as will accomplish that result.

That the co-operation and assistance of the physicians of the city and town of Las Vegas is hereby requested.

That the city physician be requested to furnish to this board a list of all houses and families where contagious or infectious diseases, especially scarlet fever, are or have been present, during the past year and also any cases that may occur in the future.

That when such list is obtained, a copy thereof be furnished the superintendent of our schools with a copy of this resolution, with instruction to see that same is strictly complied with.

That a copy of this resolution be certified to the city council of the city of Las Vegas and to the town council and board of education of the town of Las Vegas, with the request that they co-operate herewith.

Dated this 12th day of July, A. D. 1909.

Hourly Thoughts

Always and Ever of the Same Person

"I wonder," thought Miss Arabella as she thoughtfully finished her breakfast, "I wonder if there will be a letter from him this morning."

And as though in answer to her thought the clock struck nine and the bell rang. She ran to the door for the mail.

"O dear!" sighed Arabella. "Is there any mail?" cried a voice from the kitchen.

"Only a letter from grandpa," said Arabella. "He says he expects to arrive here at seven o'clock to-night."

And running into her room she gazed at the photo of a soulful young gentleman and turned up her nose at the same.

"If you don't want to write," she exclaimed, "you needn't! I'm sure I don't care!"

Adding—

"I wonder why he doesn't write!"

THE CLOCK STRIKES 10.
"Six wedding notices in the paper this morning!" she announced.

"Yes," cried the voice from the kitchen. "June is always a busy month."

Whereupon Arabella walked slowly to her room, took a window curtain from a drawer and draped it around her head like a bridal veil.

THE CLOCK STRIKES 11.

One corner of the room was sheltered by a screen and adorned with a sofa, a canopy and a profusion of cushions. These Arabella rearranged and her smile was the smile of a tender reminiscence. On a table in the middle of the room was a lamp, and this she moved to the other end of the apartment.

"I've moved the parlor lamp!" she announced.

"What," said the voice in the kitchen, "did you do that for?"

"Because," said Arabella, "it shone right in the cozy corner and spoiled everything."

THE CLOCK STRIKES 12.

She seated herself at the desk and found a package of picture postcards. These she began to address to various masculine names.

"Are you in Europe?" she wrote on one.

"Don't say I never think of you," she wrote on another.

"Guess who it's from," she wrote on a third.

"Now be a good boy," she wrote on a fourth.

THE CLOCK STRIKES 1.

She called a friend on the telephone.

"Say, Agnes, listen. Can't you come over to-morrow night? No, listen. Grandpa's coming to-night, but he goes away again to-morrow. Listen. Come to-morrow night and bring Jimmy—bring Charley, too, if you can find him. Listen. What time did you get home last night? No, listen. I got in at half past ten; he's an awfully nice fellow. Say, listen. At eight o'clock to-morrow night. Listen. Come early and we'll try and get them to take us out somewhere. Good-by."

THE CLOCK STRIKES 2.

She looked at herself in the glass, right view, front view, left view and back. She powdered her nose and looked at the effect; she dusted the powder off and looked at the effect. She arched her eyebrows, threw her head back, showed her teeth, nodded her head and shook it. She advanced her face until it nearly touched the mirror and studied her mouth intently.

"I wonder," she thought, "if this stuff they put on their lips does come off."

THE CLOCK STRIKES 3.

"I would like to see some stockings, please," she said to the salesgirl.

"Silk," said Arabella; "silk open-work."

"Here are some very pretty ones," said the salesgirl.

"No," said Arabella, "I want to see the latest styles with clocks on them."

THE CLOCK STRIKES 4.

"I never made a better fit," said the dressmaker.

Arabella looked at her reflection with all serious attention proper to the trying on of a new dress.

"I wish," she said, "that you'd made it a little tighter in the waist and a little fuller—up here—"

THE CLOCK STRIKES 5.

"Why are you so quiet?" cried the voice from the kitchen.

"I'm working," said Arabella.

There was silence.

"Yes, I am," said Arabella.

"What are you doing?" asked the voice in the kitchen.

"It's Lawrence's birthday to-morrow, and I'm embroidering a bunch of forget-me-nots on the ends of a necktie I bought for him to-day," said Arabella.

THE CLOCK STRIKES 6.

She put on her hat and sauntered slowly down the street perfectly oblivious to the manly throng that was hurrying home. She almost ran into one hurrying person.

"Why, Bella!" said he.

"Why, John!" she exclaimed, "who'd have thought of meeting you?"

THE CLOCK STRIKES 7.

The bell rang. Arabella answered the door. Old grandpa walked in—naughty old grandpa with his waggish look and snow-white hair.

"Well, if here isn't little Arabella," he exclaimed, and in his naughty, waggish, grandfatherly way he whispered, "Arabella, how's your fellow?"

"Pooh, grandpa!" exclaimed Arabella. "I've more to do than think of fellows!"

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold
A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." O. G. Schaefer and Red Cross Drug Co.
